IN REGARD TO SCHOOL MATTERS.

The American people in almost every locality are so enthusiastically in favor of education that opposition or criticism of any proopsal that purports to be for the benefit of our schools renders one almost inevitably liable to be charged with being unprogressive and unfavorable to educational interests. It is with reluctance therefore that I presume to set forth some supposed facts which I think our people should well consider before voting the bonds asked for for the purpose of procuring sites and erecting a new Grammar School and a new High School.

I do not blame Prof. Moyse for wanting to get the best building and the best facilities he can secure. It is a credit to him that he can so inspire the students that presumably without his suggestion they undertake campaigning methods to influence the voting.

But some of the rest of us have other things to consider—a wider view to take of the situation than that of the professional teacher.

First as to the sites which, although voted on, can not yet be procured without the voting of the bonds. I am told that at the meeting the other evening not a bid was below $5000 an acre for a Grammar School site; and that the cost of the proposed High School site is to be not less than $20,000 for about four and one-half acres. This seems to me unreasonable. To pay it would not accord with the policy we would pursue, any of us, in our private business; and why we pursue a different policy because the interest is a public instead of a private one? I would not be mean about it. I would pay a fair, generous price for a site. It would be cheaper than to go to the expense of condemnation proceedings. It may be that some one has reasons I do not know why an excessive price should be paid for school sites. If so, let him make them known, and if they seem good I will withdraw as gracefully as I can.

Again we have the High School site and building on our hands. What can we get for this? Can we sell them for as much more proportionately to their real value as we are asked to pay for these other sites? Or shall we be compelled to sell them at auction to the highest bidder who may easily take advantage of the probable lack of competition to get the property altogether too cheap. I would like to get some bids or assurance from some who are anxious to make a change—tha we might know what the old site (and house) would bring before we buy a new one.

Another thing to be considered is the liability of some of the remaining districts to withdraw before the bonds are paid off leaving the burden upon Glendale. Burbank has gone; Tropico has ambitions of her own, and has a right to them. Eagle Rock has a future and the other districts have hopes. The taxable property of the entire Union district as it is when the bonds are voted will be liable to taxation to pay them off until the last bond is paid, although as a district leaves such terms will be made between it and the remaining High School district as may be arranged between the trustees of the seceeding district and the Union High school board and they can withdraw only by action of the board of supervisors, the vote of a majority of the entire Union district and a two-thirds vote of the district withdrawing.

How soon they may wish to withdraw we don't know. We would like to know if the proposed bonds are voted will Tropico, Eagle Rock, La Crescenta, Ivanho and West Glendale stay with us till they are pretty well paid off? It is a question of interest to them as well as to Glendale. I am told we have $20,000 school bonds out now. Do we want to add a large amount with the present uncertainty, or would it be better to make shift for a little while till the uncertainty is removed?

If districts withdraw we shall not be so crowded and no additions to the pressure for the present. The railway and the planing mill are objected to. We are not tearing up railroads, but the planing mill could doubtless be removed and playgrounds procured, if not by extending the present grounds, by getting a detached field which would be no disadvantage if not too far away, and perhaps could be hired at a fair figure.

I am not opposed to a new High School nor to spending even more than is proposed, but it doesn't seem to me wise just at present, and I would prefer to put more into the building and its furnishings and a fair price only into the site. Let there be a clear understanding of the situation.

EDGAR LEAVITT.

DEATH OF EDWIN A. GLASSPOOL.

Mr. Glasspool died at his residence in Lomita Park last Wednesday. He was forty-nine years of age and came direct to Glendale from Chicago four years ago. He was a brick mason by trade, was born in London where he was married to the wife who survives him, but leaves no children. He had been in poor health for several months suffering from a complication of diseases, and succumbed to valvular endocarditis. The funeral services were directed by Rev. George Eley on Friday at 11 a. m., after which interment took place at Forest Lawn.

PUBLIC MEETING TO DECIDE THE QUESTION OF AN ADDITIONAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL BUILDING.

There was a well attended meeting held at the city hall last Saturday evening to instruct the Grammar School trustees as to what action they should take in regard to increased school accomodations. A large proportion of those present were residents of Lomita Park, that rapidly growing section of our city which furnishes a considerable number of the pupils in attendance at the Fourth street school. Mr. T. W. Doyle acted as chairman of the meeting. Trustee G. E. Byram, who had evidently given the subject considerable thought, stated the conditions which demand an increase in our public school facilities, and answered satisfactorily the many questions propounded by interested patrons of the school who were present. A motion was finally passed instructing the trustees to advertise for bids for a suitable site for a new school building to be located in the vicinity of Lomita Park.

Mr. Byram stated that a site on the east side of Louise street, between Seventh and Lomita, consisting of four lots and containing about one and one-third acres, could be secured for $5000.

The opinion of many of those present at the meeting was that while the site is a very desirable one, the price asked for the property is excessive. It remains to be seen whether any other offers are received. It was the general opinion that the school should be located between Glendale avenue and Brand Boulevard, should have at least four rooms and should cost at least ten thousand dollars. If this idea is carried out and it is decided to purchase the proposed site, it will necessitate a bond issue of about $15,000. Since the meeting was held there has been developed considerable opposition to the proposed location on the part of resident owners nearby, which may make it advisable to defer still longer the decision as to the location, although it is very desirable that the matter be pushed through as rapidly as possible in order to have the building ready for the next school year. The trustees upon whom devolves the responsibility of securing the site, are T. W. Doyle, G. E. Byram and G. E. Williams.

Mr. R. A. Blackburn succeeds Mr. Doyle on July 1st.

GLENDALE, CAL., APRIL 25, 1908

We sat up late at night working up a facetious article upon the subject of the dry weather, the short hay crop and the hay fever—and the next day it rained!

Years ago, sometime in the last century anyhow, and quite a ways back in it too, we read in an old magazine about the absent-minded preacher who on his way to church bethought him, that he had forgotten his watch and pulled it out of his pocket to see if he had time to go back and get it. Within the last fortnight our eyes have encountered the same old story in diluted form, running through the funny columns of our contemporaries, attributed to current exchanges. Which tends to promise a good crop of chestnuts in the near future.

William Howard Taft continues to forge along serenely ahead of all competitors on the way to the White House. Meanwhile the old reliable Democratic sprinter for the same position, who has talked himself into the hearts if not the intellects of his fellow partisans, is running around in a circle prepared to pounce upon any unprotected issue that comes hobbling by.

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast."
But as a hoper of the first degree,
He is in a class all by himself,
Is William Jennings B.

Mr. T. W. Watson also Elected

The reporter for the NEWS who failed to elect Mr. Thomas W. Watson, to the position of trustee for the City of Glendale for a four year term last week, has been reprimanded and would have been decapitated except for the fact that we have conscientious scruples against race or any other sort of suicide. Yes, Mr. Watson was elected by a large and sufficient majority, polling 225 good American votes and will therefore adorn the council chamber for four years more, Providence and weather permitting.

The Calamity at Chelsea

Chelsea, Mass., had a six million dollar fire on April 12th, the greatest calamity of the kind in New England since the great fire in Boston. Eight thousand people were made homeless in a night and a number of lives were lost. As usual in such great emergencies neighboring towns and cities were prompt in sending relief and there were numerous instances of individual heroism.

One of the most notable examples of generosity in connection with the disaster is that of the firm C. E. Osgood and Co., dealers in home furnishings, who issued an announcement that any customers in Chelsea and East Boston having unsettled accounts with their firm, could, if their household furniture had been destroyed, consider them settled in full. In times of darkness and despair it is these flashes of human sympathy that help the afflicted to feel that life is still worth living.

Our Fleet

When it was announced that President Roosevelt had a plan for sending a fleet of battleships around the globe the idea met with opposition in many quarters. All sort of difficulties were pointed out by all sorts of critics. Calamaties of various kinds and degree were foretold by the prophets of evil, and the enthusiasm over the project was confined to a comparatively limited number of our people. But the fleet sailed, and from the day of its departure from the Atlantic coast until now, enthusiasm has grown, until the critics are overwhelmed and the American people are watching its progress with a proper pride in the unprecedented performance.

The people of the Pacific coast of our country, have a very proper appreciation of the recognition given us by the government at Washington, and the presence of this aggregation of floating forts cannot fail to create a feeling of nearness to the center of power and to inspire patriotic sentiments of ownership. For it is ours. It is the navy that we have built and is tangible evidence of our growth and greatness.

As it sails from the home land to foreign shores it cannot fail to impress the rest of the world with a sense not only of our ability to defend ourselves, but to exert a potent influence in the affairs of the world, and that that influence will be for peace rather than war, no one familiar with our history can seriously doubt.

We have welcomed the white bodied exemplars of powerful peace to the far shore of their home land, and with their departure we express the common hope and belief of the people whom they represent, that they return to us with their structures untarnished by the dull coloring of dreadful war.

The Yellow Peril Again

It is after us again, the Hobgoblin of the Yellow Press and the Nightmare of Congressman Hayes. The complexion of Mr. Hayes however is reported to be red, which makes the matter more serious; yellow is bad enough, but if we are to be represented at Washington by congressmen who see things red, our case is sad indeed.

Before the prophetic gaze of Mr. Hobson and "Red" Hayes, (this is not poetry) there looms with lurid distinctness and sanguinary environment the dread vision of Japan on the war path. Japan, as Mr. Hobson recklessly declares "with a war history of six hundred years." Just what six hundred years of her history Mr. Hobson refers to, he considerately refrains from informing us, and our encyclopedia is equally shy in regard to her warlike record either before or since Commodore Perry opened her ports to the world. We are inclined to the belief that Hobson is a false alarm, but we could forgive him if he would go off and stop; it is this dreadful iteration of warlike alarms that gets upon our nerves. As for our own California statesman from the prune groves of Santa Clara, he declared in an interview the other day that Japan has to be whipped, because she has the temerity to be "preparing for war." In his great mind it is a very sinful act for any other country than this great and good United States to do anything of that sort. He and his confrere from Alabama want more battleships and bigger appropriations for army and navy so that we sail in and trounce as emphatically as possible any other country that has the temerity to appear to be getting ready to defend itself. This is a cheerful program. It commends itself to the lover of the pleasant art of manslaughter, commonly called war, as an admirable means of bringing about a sort of Donnybrook Fair among the nations. Whenever any other country gets big enough to sit up and take notice or shows any activity in the matter of preparing to defend itself, go for it promptly and with an effectual reminder on the side of the head make it sit down again, and so will the peace of the world be secured. This is the beneficent program of these lovers of their fellow men (of approved complexion) and to ensure its being carried out with neatness and dispatch we suggest that Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson be wound up and set in action at once while Congressman Hayes of Santa Prune county be loaded to the muzzle with the home product, prepared for a long campaign and forwarded to Japan by the first mail.

WHAT IS OUR LAND WORTH?

This is a question that will always be debatable because of the fact that no invariable basis of valuation can possibly be arrived at in any event. From one point of view land, like every other commodity, is worth what it will bring. From another standpoint its actual productiveness fixes its value. But the value of a product depends again on many considerations. A ton of hay is not worth as much in Antelope valley for instance, as it is in Los Angeles, consequently the quantity of land that will produce a ton of hay near Los Angeles is worth more than the same quantity further removed from the market. We are led to make these reflections by learning of the product of two and a quarter acres in lemon trees within the corporate limits of Glendale. From these trees in the last four months the sum of $750 has been received. Another orchard of ten acres in the same neighborhood, has a record for the last year of one carload per month. We do not know the output in money, but at one dollar per box, it would be about $2000, and it was probably fifty per cent more than this. With such possibilities of productiveness as these is it to be wondered at that our acreage cannot be purchased for less than $1000 per acre? About twenty-five years ago, the writer purchased some land here for $50 per acre, remarking to a friend who questioned the wisdom of his purchase, that he expected to see it worth $500 per acre. His expectations have been more than fulfilled. What is our land worth, anyhow? We should be pleased to receive for publication answers to this question.

GLENDALE GOES TO SEE THE FLEET.

The holiday appointed by Chairman Parcher of the board of trustees for Tuesday last, was very generally observed in Glendale, the most of our business establishments being closed for the day. But a very few of our people have failed to see the fleet since its arrival at San Pedro last Saturday. They began to be missed from their usual haunts on that day and the two or three days following were noticeably quiet and uneventful in our generally lively town. On Monday the Salt Lake company ran a special train direct from Glendale to San Pedro carrying five carloads of our citizens through without change. Probably 300 made this trip which was a great success, enabling the people to see the fleet without taking chances on the overcrowded cars where standing or even hanging-on room was at a premium. Those who staid at the beaches during the evening, particularly on Saturday when the grand illumination occurred, failed to get home before the morning hours. There is no doubt but that Glendale sent its full proportion of representatives to welcome and send forward with its benisons the great war fleet of our country.

MARRIED.

Mr. Edward B. Jones and Miss Catherine T. Hughes were married at the residence of J. J. Schremp, on Fourth street, last Monday evening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. F. Stone.

Mr. Jones is a druggist at San Bernardino. The young couple will spend a few days at the beaches and later will make their home in San Bernardino.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion by Mrs. A. B. Garcelon.

WHIST BECOMES MILITARY.

The latchstring was out at the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker, Central avenue, on Wednesday evening and the many guests bidden were pleased to find "something new under the sun" planned for their enjoyment. The game was designated "Military Whist," and each table represented some country which gave to the winning couple the flag of whatever country it represented. There were some exciting complications which, when mastered, afforded much amusement. At the close of the contest interest ran hign and in spite of every effort "Old Glory" wasn't in it at the finish.

England had won twenty-seven flags, which was the highest number, with Japan clipping her heels with twenty-six. Proud France had a terrible fall and picked itself up with the lowest number of all. But it was all great fun, with plenty of excitement and the evening passed on to the refreshment hour all too soon. Much of the unique affair was planned by Mrs. John Parker, who also assisted her mother in receiving. Those winning head prizes were Mr. Fred Deal, Mr. Terman, Mrs. Walter C. Fraley and Mrs. Parker.

IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The California Promotion committee makes the following statement:

The city of San Francisco that two years ago was in great confusion and its streets filled with debris, has had a wonderful reorganization. When it is considered that over one hundred million dollars has been put into buildings alone, one can realize the immensity of the work accomplished. In addition the city has had a splendid house cleaning, and it is now pronounced one of the cleanest and most healthful cities in the United States. People from all parts of the nation are preparing to attend the festivities attending the arrival of the fleet in San Francisco Bay, which will witness the greatest aggregation of war vessels ever grouped in view at one time. Preparations are completed for the accommodation of 60,000 visitors with lodgings.

In connection with the health conditions of the city the federal authorities state that the residences and places of business in San Francisco are cleaner than ever before; that no case of human plague has occurred for over sixty days, and that there are no cases now under suspicion.

THE WEATHER.

The long deferred rain began to fall Tuesday night and continued at frequent intervals during Wednesday, giving about an inch of rainfall. Although coming late it will be of inestimable value to this section, enabling procrastinating tillers of the soil to get their ground in shape after being neglected in a dependence upon late rains which until this time have failed to materialize. Aside from this the help to the hay crop will be considerable, although too long deferred to give a crop up to the average in quantity. The ground is now thoroughly wet where it had been previously plowed and it should be possible to get good yields of garden stuff from seed now planted.

P. E. O. CONVENTION.

Members of Chapter L, local P. E. O.'s, attended some of the sessions of the California Grand Chapter holding its fifth annual convention this week in the Ebell club house. On Monday afternoon a splendid affair in the form of a reception was given by Mrs. Geo. P. Brown, Wilshire Boulevard, one thousand members attending. Thursday afternoon two numbers on the program were furnished by Glendale P. E. O.'s, namely Mrs. C. E. Russell, Mrs. Emma Burket, Miss Mary Blackburn, Miss Helen Best, Miss Charlotte Blaisdell, Miss Ruth Byram, Josephine Bryant and Mrs. F. L. Albright. The numbers were "The Rosary" and a very taking coon lullaby, "Po' Lil' Lamb.' Business of the convention closed on Friday afternoon and social affairs with a grand formal reception Friday night.

THE SPINNING WHEEL LOVERS.

The busy little Priscilla Society met for three happy hours on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. F. Parker. The rooms were beautiful in spring blooms, and no time was lost in accomplishing the work planned for the day. Even as Priscilla plied her shining needle during the sunny hours, so did the members of this little sewing club, and if a little harmless gossip crept in here and there, it only enlivened the afternoon. Work finished, a dainty supper was served as a fitting end of the day. 'Many other just such happy times are planned, the club to meet every two weeks, with the prelude a charmingly informal reception of members and guests, the postlude a delectable repast and the happy hours between filled with sweet intercourse and sweeter labor.

James Griffith, editor of the magazine which was formerly known as the "Apostle of Cheerfulness," but which is now titled "Every Man," has moved his printing establishment from Los Angeles to La Canada, where he has a ranch of eleven acres. Mr. Griffith also publishes the works of Clarence Darrow, the leading counsel for the Unions in the United States. For some time Mr. Griffith has been anxious to leave the hurry and bustle of the city and take his establishment to a country spot where he could live close to nature and enjoy life to the greatest extent. With this point in view he chose to make his home in pretty La Canada.—Exchange.

THE FLEET THAT FAILED.

The fleet failed to come to Glendale last Thursday afternoon as was expected. The published itinerary for the automobile ride of the admirals, put Glendale on its list and an enterprising committee of our board of trade prepared a box of strawberries for every member of the party, with bouquets to be thrown in by young ladies from the Grammar School. Quite a crowd assembled at Fourth street and Glendale avenue from 2 to 3 o'clock and only dispersed when it was learned by telephone that the distinguished visitors had been switched off to Hollywood instead of Glendale.

HOW THE FLEET CAME IN.

Along the beach for miles the waiting thousands were scattered. They had come in singles, doubles and trios, columns of four, quintettes and groups of sixes. They had come in dozens, scores, hundreds, thousands, tens of thousands, from far and from near, from the farm, the shop, the store, the office, the school—from everywhere. They had come on foot, on horseback, in carriages, wagons, autos and cars and boats. The American people had come to see their own, the creatures which they had created and manned, to represent and defend them.

The fleet was coming!

At their feet the ocean surged and the voices of the waves as they broke upon the beach sang the grand mysterious chorus which never has ceased since that distant morning when the waters were gathered together. Hanging low on the near horizon was the curtain of the fog, but above and around was the air and sunshine of spring. Innumerable eyes were focused on the headland jutting out of the line where sky and ocean blended, to the southward. The nearby pleasure craft rose and fell on the swelling breast of ocean. The fleet was due!

A something that was not sky nor land nor ocean, came out of the distance dimly into the sunlight, uncertain and scarcely more than suggestive of a thing that floats, and the watchers almost in silence saw it grow into form and substance—saw the spars, with streamers and flags bedecked, the smoke stacks with trailing banners of smoke, the superstructure that was as bronze in the sunlight, the hull that glistened in the colorless color of peace, and the emblem of our country flying from the masthead—the fleet had come!

This was the flagship of the squadron, and growing out of the horizon in its wake came its fellows one by one, separated the one from the other with a mathematical nicety of distance.

"Noiselessly as the daylight comes
When the dawn is done,
And the crimson streak on ocean's cheek
Grows into the great Sun."

As fitted a peaceful procession there was no sound to announce its presence, but it was there! One by one marshaled on the breast of the ocean, the fleet passed silently. It was not a wonder in detail; the distance made it more of an etching suggestive of those things that thrill the blood with thoughts of the things it means, the skill, the triumph of science, the conquest of nature, the individual idea of ownership, the pride that comes of achievement, of possession, the immense potentiality of it! One thinks of the days of Paul Jones, the Bon Homme Richard and the Serapsis, the Monitor and the Merrimac, of Manila and Santiago and of this tremendous object lesson of our growth and power!

The events of the historic past move by in silent procession, but not more silently than this pageant of the present that parades the sea four miles away. It is a silent show, almost a phantom procession that moves so steadily to its anchorage yonder, but it impresses as it could not by the thunder of its guns, it almost awes us in its passing by, it stirs our sluggish blood to patriotic thrills!

TROPICO

H. E. Chandler, after a few days' visit to his family, returned to Imperial, where he has extensive farming interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harris and little daughter of San Fernando are the guests of Mrs. Harris's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Light of Tropico avenue.

Mrs. W. A. Thompson of Central avenue entertained the past week her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ewing and Carroll Ewing of Yuma, Ariz.

The Freak Show which was scheduled to occur at Logan's hall the latter part of this month, has been postponed indefinitely owing to the serious illness of Mr. W. A. Thompson.

Tropico society in general has been very quiet the past week as the social leaders and devotees of society have been enjoying the fleet festivities of Los Angeles and the several beach towns.

The condition of W. A. Thompson, one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Tropico, who was stricken quite suddenly about a fortnight ago, remains the same. Mr. Thompson's numerous friends trust that ere another week passes Mr. Thompson's condition may be very much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Webster and daughters, Lila and Leola Webster, returned the first of the week from Long Beach where they spent several days visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Webster also participated in the fleet festivities at Long Beach and visited one of the battleships anchored off the coast at Long Beach.

Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. James R. Maxwell and Miss Cora Hickman, accompanied by Dorothy Leech, Mayme Imler, Harry Chandler and Eugene Imler, were guests at a luncheon on the Battleship Louisiana, Wednesday, of Charles Allen, warrant officer of the mechanical engineering department of the navy. The courtesies dispensed by Mr. Allen were equal to those extended by any accomplished society lady. The table was adorned with a large bouquet of pink roses.

We wish the young people of Tropico to be informed that the Fishermen's Club of Los Angeles will soon spend a Sunday evening at the meeting of the Epworth League at the M. E. church. This is a band of wide awake Christian young men who conduct very interesting evangelistic services. Watch the date.

THE PRESIDENT.

MRS. IMLER ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. David H. Imler entertained informally with a luncheon at her home Palm Villa, Thursday afternoon, complimentary to Mr. Charles Allen, warrant officer of the mechanical engineering department of the battleship Louisiana of the United States navy. Previous to the luncheon Mr. Allen enjoyed a drive throughout the valley, visiting several orange groves, which was a novel sight to him, and admiring the many beauties of Glendale and Tropico.

"Palm Villa" was most profusely decorated in ferns and quantities of fragrant roses. The dining room was decorated in an artistic arrangement of red and white roses. Mrs. Imler's guests included Mrs. James R. Maxwell, Miss Nellie Sharpe, Miss Anna Augspurger, Miss Rose Teweles, Miss Cora Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. R. Zinn Imler and J. B. Hickman.

N. P. BANKS W. R. C. AT BARBECUE

The ladies of N. P. Banks W. R. C. who assisted the several patriotic organizations of Los Angeles at the barbecue given at Chutes Park, Monday, for three thousand five hundred of the fourteen thousand sailor boys entertained were pleased to have the Tropico table, which seated 116 sailors, voted the handsomest decorated table at the park. Bouquets of roses were laid at each plate together with a cluster of orange blossoms. To a large number of the boys who were seated at the Tropico table orange blossoms were an unfamiliar flower, and as soon as they learned the name of the sweet scented bouquet, many were the small note books which appeared in which the blossoms were placed to be sent later to the mothers and sisters of the sailor boys. Happy were the hearts of the ladies of N. P. Banks Corps, Monday evening, who contributed so much happiness and expressed so many kindly words of cheer and encouragement at Chutes Park. At the close of the feast, as the 3500 petty officers and sailors passed out the enclosure, where the barbecue was spread, the boys of the navy were treated to a battle of roses in which 500 ladies participated.

THURSDAY AFTERNON CLUB.

Mrs. Charles E. Moser, assisted by Miss Harriet Meyers and Miss Maude Moore most charmingly entertained the Thursday Afternoon Club at the home of Mrs. Moser, on Tenth street, Thursday.

A most interesting program was presented by Mrs. John Seaman, Mrs. A. W. Collins and Mrs. A. O. Conrad.

Guests representing titles of books will find four impartial judges to award the prizes, after which delightful dainties will be served at the refreshment booth.

Prominent ladies have the affair in charge and they promise a success. Be sure and go, even if you cannot represent a book title.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The twelfth year students in English are completing a study of the literature of the eighteenth century this week. Thursday each one of the class brought to the recitation a selection from one of the novels of that period. These selections were read and discussed, especially as the vast differences were noticed between the style, kind of plot and the unnatural characters of the eighteenth century novel and the fiction of our modern day. This study of the novel aims to help the student in forming his judgment of fiction, which is the form of prose that constitutes most of the average man or woman's recreation reading, nowadays. The twelfth year have done a good deal of practical work this year with their English, not the least of which is their study and practice of parliamentary law on alternate Fridays. Just now they are busy getting ready for the play they will give senior week. It is to be a Greek extravaganza with a musical setting, in which a chorus of about twenty-five students from the other classes of the school will help. The graduating class hopes to stage this play out of doors in true Greek manner, but they have not yet decided upon this point.

The color work done by the various pupils in the drawing department has been enjoyed by all. For the past two weeks flowers, landscapes and studies in still life have adorned the small wall space allowed us. Pencil and charcoal have had their day, water color and wax crayons are now in the lead, but soon pen and ink sketching days will be here. The work of the pupils can only be appreciated by seeing it.

A very pleasant program was given by the Literary Society on Friday last.

Monday and Tuesday were given by the trustees as holidays. On Monday the most of the students went on the Salt Lake excursion to Long Beach and San Pedro. They unanimously agree that this opportunity of seeing the magnificent boats was worth much more than the usual day's work, and extend their thanks to the trustees for the privilege of the holiday.

Thursday at 3:30 the South Pasadena High baseball team played a practice game with our boys. Eleven innings were played, resulting in Glendale winning by a score of 6 to 5.

The team play the first league game with Compton High at Compton on Saturday afternoon of this week. The boys have done well during the short time they have been organized and we hope to win the game.

There is great rejoicing among the students over the success of the High School movement. They realize the great need of more room indoors and outside and are willing to work earnestly to secure the assistance of the friends of the children and the schools.

CHANGE OF SITE AND HIGH SCHOOL BOND ELECTION.

The result of the election on change of High School site was very favorable to school interests. The vote by districts was as follows:

| | Yes | No |
|---|---|---|
| Eagle Rock | 3 | 4 |
| Glendale City | 95 | 47 |
| Ivanhoe | 8 | 0 |
| Tropico | 49 | 8 |
| West Glendale | 37 | 3 |
| Total | 192 | 62 |

A two-thirds vote was all that was required to effect the change. The new site contains about 4½ acres. This, though not as large as many of the schools have, will be a decided improvement upon the present site.

The movement is purely a school matter instituted by the school authorities to secure sufficient room and equipment for the several departments of school work and activities.

The feature of the election was the interest and active work of the student body. On Friday afternoon the several classes formed thier plans for assisting in getting the voters to the polls. It was decided to beg, borrow and hire all the conveyances possible for use during voting hours. Every one turned out and "boosted" and as a result the vote was much larger than was expected on account of the large number of people being away to see the fleet and it was also very fayorable.

When it comes to a question of schools the people of California can be depended upon to do the right thing. The accommodations provided in 1902 for the High School are now wholly inadequate and the university authorities are insisting on more room and better facilities in order to meet with their requirements. At the time the school was organized there was no definite idea of what would be needed in the future. As a result it is necessary to make a new start and try to lay the foundations broad enough to accommodate the rapid growth of the coming years.

Glendale is entirely behind the other High Schools of the county in her High School facilities, though she is one of the richest districts. Omitting the larger cities, the following comparison shows how far behind we are:

| | Valuations for 1907-08 | Cost of site, building and equipment. |
|---|---|---|
| Hollywood | 10,752,035 | $70,000 |
| San Pedro, over | 7,000,000 | 50,000 |
| Whittier | 3,594,450 | 80,000 |
| Glendale exclusive of Burbank | 3,361,015 | 10,000 |
| S. Pasadena | 3,047,355 | 75,000 |
| Alhambra | 2,710,686 | 50,000 |
| San Fernando | 1,891,485 | 28,000 |
| Inglewood | 1,814,907 | 45,000 |

Several others, Lordsburg, Covina, Downey, El Monte, Compton, with a valuation less than the above have about five acres of ground and buildings costing three times as much as ours.

In South Pasadena and Hollywood since the erection of the new buildings there has been a most decided growth. Improvements have come in with the greatest rapidity. The tax rate decreased instead of increasing under the bond issues. Glendale High School could care for the proposed bond issue with the greatest ease. For the coming year there will be $3000 to pay, levied upon the 1908-9 assessment, which will be much above the figures given above.

Bonded Indebtedness.

In regard to our present bonded indebtedness for school purposes, some misapprehension exists. The exact figures are not at present attainable, but the only indebterness of the kind hanging over the Glendale Grammar School district, is the remainder due on the $10,000 bond issue for a new Grammar School building three years ago, amounting to about $8500, and our proportion of the $10,000 bond issue of 1902 for the High School, which cannot at the present time be more than $3500 for this Grammar School district. This is a present indebtedness of $12,000 only.

Cost of New Site.

This is another matter in regard to which some of our people are misinformed. Prices have been obtained on twenty lots in the block proposed to be purchased. The prices are as follows: One lot at $630, one at $700, one at $850, one at $750, four lots at $2625, three lots at $2040, five lots at $3250.

Then there are three improved lots at $2625, $4500 and $2000 respectively. The twenty lots aggregating $19,970. This leaves four unimproved lots upon which prices have not been procured and it is estimated that the buildings on the improved property would sell for enough to pay for these, making the net cost in round numbers $20,000. Another item of interest in this connection is the fact that Burbank has in the school this year only seventeen pupils, the withdrawal of whom will not very greatly relieve the situation.

Thank You

The students of the Glendale Union High School wish to convey to those who assisted by their votes and in any way, directly and indirectly, to the successful decision on the new school site, their very earnest and most sincere thanks.

Your interest in the welfare of our schools is most deeply appreciated and we all join in extending to you our heartfelt appreciation.

We are sure that if those who did not see their way clear to vote for the change of site could realize fully the great need we have of a better and more commodious school home, they, too, would give their loyal and hearty support to the bond election to be held on April 28.

In behalf of our students whose desires we voice we earnestly solicite your co-operation and help.

Sincerely yours,

LORAINE MITCHELL,
President Senior Class.
ROY WOLF,
